

Christmas Message for the Year of Faith from Bishop Provost

My dear People of God,

"I proclaim to you good news of great joy." Luke 2:10

The Year of Faith invites us to an embrace. We cannot ignore an embrace. We can turn back from a glance, overlook a smile, and routinely shake hands, but when embraced, we are challenged to respond. The embrace can catch us by surprise or be the culmination of a life of devotion. This is what has happened on God's part.

God spent a great deal of time preparing a People for His embrace. He could not abide the separation of sin Adam and Eve created. He wanted to love His creation and wanted creation to love Him in return. So He chose a Patriarch, Abraham, revealed His oneness to him, called a people to Himself, performed great works for them, gave them His name and all the tools for understanding His intent and purposes—sacred writings, a kingdom, a temple, sacrifices, and, yes, Mary. Only from a People with such devotion to the one God could a woman like Mary come. Oh, how beautiful is Mary returning the embrace! "Mary kept all these things, reflecting on them in her heart" (Luke 2:19). She returns the embrace of God with the devotion of silent reflection.

Absence makes the embrace more intense. Think of how a family greets a soldier coming home after a deployment. They don't shake hands. They embrace. Think of how you greet your grandmother. You don't pat her on the shoulder. You hug and kiss her. Think of God, from whom mankind was alienated, waiting, reaching down, making contact, and finally dropping down from the heavens, not in lightning and thunder but like gentle dew, born in a silent Bethlehem manger to a virgin mother. This is the embrace of God.

I love the eloquent words of the Letter to the Hebrews that describe this embrace of God's Incarnation:

In times past, God spoke in partial and various ways to our ancestors through the prophets; in these last days, he has spoken to us through the Son, whom he made heir of all things and through whom he created the universe, who is the refulgence of his glory, the very imprint of his being, and who sustains all things by his mighty word. (Hebrews 1:1-3)

And how do we return this embrace?

I am afraid that all too often we do not wait for the returning soldier or have time for the lonely grandmother. We are people of the world, with our own noisy concerns, distractions, and preoccupations. They are so important. And in all the noise and clamor, we miss the gentle embrace.

Christ is so simple, you see. It is not that He lacks depth and meaning. On the contrary, He is quite profound. His depth is found in a simple embrace that is so utterly not what we expect. And if we are too occupied and distracted by the world, we will miss the message. He reveals Himself to the world as a baby. The Word of God, when He comes into the world, cannot even speak a coherent word but sleeps the silent sleep of an infant. This is the sign that confirms the truth of the message that God loves us. When all has been said, there are no words. How do the angels say it: "[T]his will be a sign for you; you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger" (Luke 2:12). The infant is the sign.

There is one thing about an embrace that has always struck me as defining. It is silent. Nothing more must be said. Words cease. The embrace says it all.

The Year of Faith—the invitation to reengage our faith—calls us to embrace God. If you have been away from the faith, it is time to come home. If you have been around but tend to wander, then it is time to settle down. If this means conversion and confession, then so be it. If resolutions must be made, then we must keep them. God does not simply wait for you, He comes out to meet you. An empty house cannot greet the returning soldier. The grandmother wants her family around her. God wants you.

This was the "good news of great joy" that greeted the shepherds. God loved them. He did not want them to remain in the fields. He wanted them home, to go "in haste" (Luke 2:16) to the embrace of an infant.

Extending to you and your families my blessings for Christmas in this Year of Faith, I remain

Devotedly yours in our newborn Lord,

+Glen John Provost
Bishop of Lake Charles

Bradford to retire; search on for new ICCS principal

LAKE CHARLES – A search has begun for a principal for the 2013-2014 school year at Immaculate Conception Cathedral Catholic School, according to Kimberlee Gazzolo, superintendent of Catholic Schools in the Diocese of Lake Charles. After 12 years as the Principal of Immaculate Conception Cathedral School, Dinah Bradford announced her plan to retire at the end of the 2012-2013 school year.

Qualified candidates must be Catholic, must possess a master's degree and have demonstrated leadership abilities in an educational setting.

Resumes and materials should be directed to Gazzolo at 1112 Bilbo Street, Lake Charles, LA 70601. Qualified candidates may apply until Jan. 4, 2013. Download employment application at lcdioocese.org. Click forms in main menu.

Under Bradford's leadership the cathedral school has not only grown significantly in enrollment but most recently completed construction of the St. Charles Annex which houses four classrooms, a state-of-the-art library, computer lab, and art lab as well as much needed restrooms. The Cathedral School's students have also consistently scored among the highest in the Diocese on all standardized tests.

Bradford stated that while change is often unsettling, the Cathedral School's strong organizational structure, highly qualified and motivated faculty and staff, and solid foundation of families will assure its continued success.

Children, some dressed as St. Juan Diego, brought roses to Our Lady of Guadalupe during the celebration of her feast day Wednesday, Dec. 12, at St. Henry Catholic Church. The celebration recalls the apparitions of Mary at the hill of Tepeyac from Dec 9-12, 1531 to Juan Diego. Bishop Glen John Provost was the celebrant of the standing-room only Mass.

Did you know...

The personal ordinariate of the Chair of St. Peter was established Jan. 1, 2012 to serve former Anglican groups and clergy in the United States who sought to become Catholics. Similar to a diocese though national in scope, the ordinariate is based in Houston. It allows parishes and communities across the U.S. that are fully Catholic to retain elements of their Anglican heritage and traditions.

Do you know how many dioceses and archdioceses in the U.S. are without a bishop? Find out in the next Catholic Calendar on Friday, Jan. 18.

Father Doyle was born January 16, 1929 to Michael and Mary Doyle. Father Doyle received his early education at St. John the Evangelist Catholic School, attended Commerce High School, and graduated from St. Agnes High School in 1947. He attended New York University, receiving an Associate Degree, received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from St. Bonaventure University, and completed his seminary education at Christ the King Seminary in Olean, New York.

Father James Doyle

He was ordained to the priesthood by the Most Reverend John Maguire, on May 27, 1961 in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City. He celebrated his First Mass on May 28, 1961 at St. Anthony of Padua Parish in New York.

Father Doyle was a quiet spirit. He rose early each weekday for the 6:15 Mass that he was so faithful to. He loved to walk the grounds of the church while praying and reading his Breviary. He enjoyed greeting the students at Holy Family Catholic School as they arrived each morning. He shared his love of animals every year with the students at the Blessing of their animals on the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi. He left his presence at each stop he made feeding the abandoned animals along the roadways. He loved his work and was committed to having an active life in spite of his age. He will be fondly remembered as a very private and faithful servant and missed by both of his Parish Families.

Monsignor Daniel A. Torres, V.G., pastor of St. Henry Catholic Church, blesses the images of Our Lady of Guadalupe and St. Juan Diego that accompany the Carretera Antorcha Guadalupana or Guadalupean Torch Run.
